Railroad Ticket Stolen by Thief

A sneak thief who entered the apartment of C. W. Poole, Santa Fe employee, Thursday night, stole a small sum of money and return transportation to Oklahoma, which was the property of Poole's father.

Poole has an apartment at Twenty-third and Nevins. The thief made his entrance by way of a ground floor window, to the room of Poole's father, who has been visiting him for a time. While the occupant of the room slept the thief rifled his trousers and made his escape without disturbance. It was only when the Pooles awoke in the morning that they realized someone had entered the apartment during the night. They found clear proof the thief's entrance through the window.

"Buys" Street Car Line for Day for $500

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Former Supervisor Daniel C. Murphy is paying all the fares on the Sacramento and Clay street cable cars tomorrow.

But, there's a catch to it—the cars are not running.

Murphy isn't prompted by any motive of philanthropy for the long suffering car riding public. He wants to move a three-story house from a location on Clay street, between Powell and Mason streets to a new location some 300 feet away.

The moving would tie up service on the Sacramento and Clay street cable lines for nearly 24 hours, Murphy was informed.

What to do?
"Buy the car line for the day," ordered Murphy.

So it's been arranged that the cable cars won't run Sunday and Murphy will pay all the fares that would have come in. They'll amount to between $400 and $500.

SLAIN GIRL'S BODY FOUND

(By Universal Service)
OMAHA, Aug. 15.—The body of a girl, found slain on the banks of a creek near Bedford Wednesday, was identified today as that of Lillian McKenney, daughter of a farmer living in Harlick, South Dakota.

Elma McKenney, father of the slain girl, made the identification from a scar on the knee. The features were unrecognizable.

Search for Earl Hough, a convict paroled from the Colorado penitentiary, with whom the girl eloped a week ago, was begun.

"Millionaire Rum" Ring is Disclosed

(By Universal Service)
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—Eight men and two women were arrested and six expensive automobiles and $10,000 worth of bonded whiskey were seized today in Pasadena by George Contreras, chief of the county drug enforcement squad, acting under orders from District Attorney Asa Keyes.

The arrested persons, all charged with conspiracy to violate the Wright act, were said to be members of a "millionaire rum ring" that has been supplying the wealthy residents of Pasadena with choice wines and liquors.

Accidents On Increase Here

During the first seven months of 1924 in Richmond 147 accidents have been reported, while during the same period last year there were only 131 accidents. Deaths from automobile accidents have also increased during the year, according to figures compiled from police reports. Ten deaths have been caused by automobile accidents since January 1, 1924, while during the same period in 1923 there were only seven reported.

Fines during the past seven months total $19,500, most of which was collected from prohibition law cases.

Paroled On Booze Charge

After serving 70 days of a sentence of 100 days for possession of liquor John McDonald was paroled yesterday from the county jail by the county board of parole commissioners.

Henry A. Johnston realizes that the business conduct of our state affairs is the biggest business in our state; it usually receives the least attention. Vote for him for State Senator.

Find Body Of Murdered Deputy

NATION WIDE SENSATION FOLLOWS FIND

Remains of Matteotti, Prominent Socialist Leader, Are Discovered

IDENTIFICATION IS MADE

Slaying Almost Caused Dissolution of the Fascist
Government

(By Universal Service)
MILAN, Aug. 16.—A sensation that reaches to nation-wide proportions was created today by the discovery of the body of the murdered socialist deputy, Matteotti. It was found buried under ten inches of soil in a small wood shed from Rome, and about 200 yards from the spot where a short time before the murdered deputy's coat was found.

A hunting dog working with his master lingered over the barely covered skeleton, some of the bones of which protruded from the ground. Carabineers were summoned and they disinterred the remains from the shallow grave. The head was still recognizable.

A magistrate proceeded from Rome and formally identified the body. Buried deep in the chest was a sharp tool, such as is used by iron workers, which had been used to kill the socialist leader.

On June 11 Deputy Matteotti, a socialist leader in the chamber of deputies, expected to make certain exposures regarding graft, was attacked by six men who sprang from an auto as he was walking through the streets of Rome. They beat the deputy into unconsciousness and dragged him back into the auto, speeding away. He was never seen again alive. What was thought at first to be merely a kidnapping case became a world-wide murder sensation when it was established that the deputy had been slain and one of the effects of the crime was to bring the government of Premier Mussolini to a point of dissolution in the reversion of feeling against the Fascist, who were suspected of doing away with the socialist leader.

Warren Griffin Funeral Monday

Leaving here Schitzen went to New York, thence to Maine, back through Canada, to Oregon, to California, covering a distance of about 8500 miles without any serious mishaps.

U. S. JUBILANT OVER SUCCESS OF DAWES PLAN

News of Approval of International Agreement Received With Satisfaction

REPUBLICANS ARE PLEASED

Protocol Is Signed by Allied and German Representatives at Conclave

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—News of the approval of the international agreement, putting into operation the substance of the Dawes reparations plan, was received with unqualified satisfaction by government officials here tonight.

Formal comment was withheld at untimely.

Administration officials view the Dawes plan as distinctly an American contribution toward the economic rehabilitation of Europe and find special satisfaction in the fact that it is associated with the name of Charles E. Dawes, republican vice presidential candidate.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The reparations protocol was signed by the allied and German representatives at 8:50 o'clock this evening, making possible fulfillment of the program drawn up in the Dawes report. The German and allied delegates prepared to depart at once for their homes.

Premier Ramsay MacDonald of England, already dressed in old clothes, prepared to leave London for a vacation.

The pact which is to be ratified August 30, provides elaborate schemes of arbitration in case Germany defaults or evades any of the technical rulings under the Dawes plan. Attached to the pact was the Franco-German correspondence, providing for the evacuation of the Ruhr within a year.

Record Growth Of West Shown

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—The magnitude of this city and the phenomenal progress of the west is exhibited in a comparison of the number of telephones in use here and the number in operation in Maryland, one of the oldest states in the Union. There are only 162,500 telephones in Maryland, while there are 187,454 instruments in San Francisco. Maryland sends out 800,000 telephone messages every day, while this city sends over 1,000,000. In each the peak of the messages are crowded into a period of a few hours each day, bringing a heavy strain on the telephone equipment and attendants. The phenomenal development and expansion of central California would be vividly exhibited were the total telephone facilities required by its inhabitants compared with those now used by various eastern and southern commonwealths.

American Wife Wins Victory Over her Italian Husband

(By Universal Service)
PARIS, Aug. 16.—An American wife won a victory over her Italian husband who has the backing of the entire Mussolini government when Mrs. Loranda Piccio, formerly Miss Loranda Batchelder of Chicago, regained the custody of her little son for whom both father and mother have battled for many months.

Mrs. Piccio arrived today at the villa on Lake Como to receive the baby, who will remain with her until he is 7 years of age. Arrangements were completed in Rome last week after a meeting of Mrs. Piccio with General Pierrie Piccio, head of the Italian air service, assisted by their respective lawyers.

The meeting came after the former American girl had appealed to the American embassy for assistance against her husband, whose methods caused a quarrel to become an international sensation.

Train Kills Two, Six Hurt

(By Universal Service)
SAN JOSE, Aug. 16.—Two persons were instantly killed this afternoon when the Southern Pacific Del Monte Express, traveling towards San Francisco at a rate of more than 50 miles an hour, crashed into a automobile at the Richmond avenue crossing, 12 miles south of here.

The dead:
J. B. FREITAS, 40, wealthy seed farm owner of Coyote.
TONY FREITAS, his 6-year-old son.

The automobile was dragged more than 1200 feet by the train. The impact of the collision tore away the pilot of the engine, necessitating a delay of more than an hour while repairs were made.

According to witnesses, Freitas was driving at a high rate of speed on a road running parallel to the train and turned into the Richmond avenue crossing, attempting to beat the train across.

Both Freitas and his son were dead when taken from the wreckage by members of the train crew.

Freitas leaves a widow and three children.

Funeral Tuesday For John McMahon

Funeral services for the late John McMahon, who died Friday evening from a sudden attack of heart trouble, will be held in the Elks lodge rooms Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, under the direction of Bert Curry.

McMahon was a well known dairyman of the San Pablo Creek region and was aged 53. He was a native of Ireland. He leaves three brothers in Ireland, William, Andrew and George, but had no living relatives in this country. He was an active member of the Richmond lodge of Elks.

McMahon was taken suddenly ill while on his way home with a load of hay and was taken to the home of Thomas Fitzgerald nearby. Dr. L. M. Fernandez of Pinole was called and decided to remove the stricken man to a hospital, but McMahon died almost immediately.

McMahon had been in the dairy business in this section for 25 years. He was a partner with George Milligan in the McMahon dairy on San Pablo creek at the time of his death.

Refused to Work; Wife Asks Divorce

Clarence Bernhard of Richmond didn't get married to work and didn't labor, forcing her to live on charity of friends, according to suit for divorce instituted here by Mrs. Ruth Bernhard. Three months of Bernhard's idleness sufficed and in November, 1923, they separated. Mrs. Bernhard declares. She asks the court to permit use of her maiden name, Ruth Fowler.

Wilbur Pierce and T. M. Carlson of Richmond are attorneys for plaintiff.

Pioneer Potter Dies Suddenly

Moses Heata, until seven months ago a resident of Richmond, and well known here as a pioneer potter, died suddenly in a Phoenix, Arizona, hospital yesterday afternoon. For many years he lived at Thirteenth and Nevins avenue in Richmond and he leaves a large number of friends in Richmond. Although Heata had gone to Arizona for his health, the news of his death was entirely unexpected. A telegram bringing the news was received yesterday by Joe Sharp, 312 Ninth street.

Dougall, who has been engaged in the hardware business at 335 Macdonald avenue for the past eleven years, will soon move his store to the brick building on the southeast corner of the intersection of Macdonald avenue and Eleventh street. HUNDREDS ARE EXPECTED AT MEET OF BOARD

Rumored That Demand Will Be Made for Inspection by State Engineers

MANY WILL VIEW THE RUINS

Accident at the Roosevelt Junior High Will Be Thoroughly Investigated

A thorough investigation of conditions at the Roosevelt Junior High school was started yesterday by Richmond citizens following the exposure by the Record-Herald of the fall of a considerable portion of the plastering in the auditorium of the building, news of which had been kept secret by school officials. The accident occurred two weeks ago, and would have caused fatalities had anyone been in the auditorium at the time, it is stated.

Among the many reports circulated yesterday, as to conditions at the school and the probable outcome, were the following:

1. That residents will demand that the building be approved by state inspectors.

2. That radical changes may have to be made in parts of the construction.

3. That the auditorium was not built in accordance with the city building laws.

4. That the metal lath substituted for the lath board was not the most suitable type.

From comments made yesterday, there is no doubt but that a large mass of Richmond residents will be present at the meeting of the grammar school board Tuesday night, when, it has been promised, the whole affair will be aired.

Rumors were current on all sides that citizens will tell the board that they will remove their children from school unless the building is inspected by a competent engineer and declared safe.

Commenting on cracks that have appeared on the outside of the building on the Ninth street side, which extend even down to the pavement, Building Inspector L. Wierda said that this was due to the fact that the construction had been used, and would not have occurred had bricks been used. He said that no danger was imminent, however.

James T. Narbett, architect for the building, declared last night that the wire lathing used was "good," and that the substitution had been made at the request of Building Inspector Wierda.

Narbett disagreed with Wierda's statement that the "furs" were not good enough, but said that one-inch "furs" had been placed at intervals across the ceiling. This question also is expected to be threshed out at the meeting of the school board Monday night, as well as reasons given for the failure of school officials to provide themselves with the necessary permit before starting building repairs.

Under the contract the contractor is held liable for all repairs for two years, it was stated yesterday. Speculation is keen as to why the taxpayers of the city should be required to pay damages in the present case, as was intimated might be done by City Superintendent of Schools W. T. Helms. A large crowd of men, women and children were at the Roosevelt Junior High school yesterday in an effort to inspect the ruins in the auditorium, but were unable to secure admittance to the building. Helms stated last night that the building "would be open as much as any school building Monday," and that residents might enter the auditorium at that time.

Repair proceedings are expected to be held up until Wierda has conferred with the school board. The entire ceiling much be torn down and rebuilt, Wierda says.

JOHNSTON SPLENDIDLY EQUIPPED

The Contra Costa Courier, published at Walnut Creek and circulating in the central portions of this county, including Danville, Alamo, Tassajara, San Ramon, Lafayette and Moraga, reflects the sentiment of the people it serves.

In its issue of this week it highly commends Henry A. Johnston, candidate for state senator, in the following words:

Henry A. Johnston is splendidly equipped, both mentally and by experience, for the office of state senator for which he is a candidate for the republican nomination at the August 26 primary election. His life is an open book and the pages are clean. For honesty, efficiency and economy in whatever he has undertaken his record is clean. He made a signal success of farming and dairying before attaining his majority, which unerringly indicates that he was born with those qualities which make for success in life.

At the present time Johnston is president of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, president of the Richmond Rotary club, a director of the Mechanics bank, director of the California Guarantee Building and Loan association, director of the Contra Costa Realty company, and a large property owner.

A man like Johnston, who has risen from the ranks and made a success of farming, dairying and business, knows the needs and rights of every vocation. Johnston has not forgotten his rise from the bottom and he has the keenest sympathy for the needs of every section of the people, whether laboring, farming or business.

A vote for Henry A. Johnston for state senator will give a good business administration at Sacramento.

THE TRUTH COMES HARD

"Richmond people are split into rival factions ready to scuttle the city in order to cut each other's throats."
—Richmond Forward.

Those were harsh words used in the Chamber of Commerce Bulletin last week, but it is the truth and the bitter truth at that.

This city, more than any other city we know of, has been cursed with two kinds of gentlemen, those who will not touch anything unless they can make an immediate fortune by the turn, and those whose idea of city building is to hog everything in sight that is not nailed down.

In the process of "taking the cash and letting the credit go," those who would accept the responsibility of building the Greater Richmond have split into small and bitterly antagonistic cliques and factions.

One group pulls for the development of the waterfront between Point Richmond and Point San Pablo, and rather than see the development go elsewhere they will be happy to see development go nowhere.

Another group pulls for the inner harbor, and in order to keep development from going elsewhere will move heaven and earth to secure a dogfall with development held up indefinitely.

One group is convinced that no development should be permitted above Tenth street, and another cannot see anything below Twenty-third street, while still a third is interested in pegging the city at Sixth and Macdonald.

The Point feels that everything should revolve about the intersection of Standard and Castro, and thousands of people on the East Side think the Point should move about seven miles due south of Milpitas and camp there permanently.

Thus it goes, and thus our city, with more natural advantages than any other city around the bay or on the coast, is standing still.

If and when, by some miracle, the gentlemen who lead the various rival factions can see the solemn truth of the statement that by getting together on the slogan "We want to build Richmond," this city shall be given such an impetus to growth that the world will stand still and look in amazement.

Unless we do bury the hatchet somewhere else than in each other's skulls, we shall continue to stand by and watch progress pass us by on its way to other and less favored but more hospitable communities.

It may take a lot of funerals to bring this situation about, but it would be worth it, verily it would be worth it.

Strange, isn't it? There are American bars in Paris, Louvre and Havana—everywhere but in America.

Dry agents pinched a newspaper copy reader in the east last week and he had nothing on his hip but a birthmark.

If Peggy keeps on changing her name, she'll finally have to call her husbands "and so forth."

Fashion Hints

By MARY MARSHALL

The Separate Collar and Cuff Offers Clever Means of Finishing Simple Frocks.

The white collar and cuff of lingerie or lace—is distinctly of Occidental origin. You couldn't possibly link it up with the fashions of Egypt, China, Japan, Persia, Burma, Siam, Cambodia, Annam or any of the world from which our fashions have recently derived inspirations. And it is comparatively modern in origin. Certainly it is more recent than anything we associate with the middle-ages. The prototype of the detachable lingerie collar worn by the women of today is, to be sure, the enormous starched ruff worn by Queen Elizabeth and her contemporaries.

Until within the last generation women have been wearing some sort of detachable washable collars to their frocks for years. Even during the period of very high, tight collars they were present, even though they took the form of tiny little turnover tabs that were fastened to the top of the high collar and allowed to peep over. Sometimes it was ruching that could be sewed into the top of the collar, which was usually discarded rather than washed after it had lost its freshness.

Of late years, as every one knows, the detachable white collar has been almost unknown, save as a survival of out-of-date fashions. It was all because of the immense wave of Orientalism that came over European and American fashion at that time—a wave of Eastern fashion influence that gave us sandals and light slippers instead of shoes, that persuaded us to go corsetless, that bared our arms of gloves, and decorated them instead with innumerable bracelets, that bid us hang barbaric rings and pendants in our ears, and taught us to wear loosely flowing sleeves or no sleeves at all.

And here we are going back to the detachable washable collar and cuff set. To realize how important has been their revival visit the counter where such accessories are sold at any smart shop and see for yourself. In these days of Quaker simplicity in day frocks a set of these collars and two or three yards of fabric would be all that the clever home dressmaker would need to make a charming frock.

Wide collar and deep cuffs of white organdie embroidered and trimmed with lace, and narrow collar and cuffs of checked silk in powder blue and white; a white organdie collar embroidered in colored silk worn with a silk tassel at front.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

By MARY MARSHALL

THE HOUSEWIFE—Her Proverb. When she shops—"Many have been ruined by buying good bargains. There are more foolish buyers than foolish sellers."

There is no excuse nowadays for having ugly shades for your lights. If you can't afford to buy expensive ones then you can make them; and if you haven't time for that, then you can buy cheap ones that are in excellent taste and give a charming effect.

The little shields to fasten over side-wall electric lights are more and more used. They give just the right amount of softening to the light, without dimming it too much, and moreover they are decidedly pretty. They are made of parchment, paper, silk and mica, and once in a while one is made of some other material—thin layers of a lovely tropical shell, for instance, or old engravings mounted in little brass shield frames.

Perhaps the easiest sort to make are of silk laid on the frame in fine pleats, and bound around the edges with gold braid. They should be lined, before binding, with a straight piece of the silk.

You can make effective shields or shades by cutting out motifs from cretonne and passing them on the inside of a shade or shield of parchment paper. When the light is turned on the design shows through interestingly.

A TIMELY RECIPE

Stewed Tomatoes

Peel, cut small, cook quickly, chopping as they cook; when soft and no distinct bits of pulp visible, add one-fourth cup sugar (unless preferred not sweet), two tablespoons butter, one-half teaspoon salt, and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Add also a slice of onion, or green pepper, if liked. Cook five minutes longer and serve hot.

PEACH COBBLER

Line a two-quart pudding dish with a good crust. Fill the dish heaping full of peeled and quartered peaches. Add a cupful of sugar, half a teaspoonful of cinnamon and the juice of half a lemon. Cover with a thick rich pie crust and bake until brown. With a silver spoon break the top crust down into the fruit, chill and serve with whipped cream.

WHERE IT STARTED

TABLE KNIVES

(Copyright, 1920, by the Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

The custom of having knives at the table did not come into use until the close of the fifteenth century. Formerly food had been cut, when the fingers could not do the work, with the knives which everyone, high or low, carried at his belt. Certain nobles, with luxurious tastes, started the fashion, and it rapidly grew. Sheffield, England, had the first table knife manufactory.

The Luxury of Love

by VIOLET DARE

AUTHOR OF "The Half-Time Wife," "Love or Fame?" ETC.

WHO'S WIFE OAND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

MARY HAYWARD, a famous beauty, has gone through the form of a marriage; all! SIR NIGEL CAVENDISH, although he is in love with BRUCE GILLIAN, Cavendish knows that she does not love him, but urges her to remain with him for six months, promising that he will allow her to have the marriage annulled at the end of that time and return to Gillian. Gillian goes to Alaska and Mary and Nigel spend their honeymoon in Venice with WILMA RAYMOND, an old friend of Nigel's and her husband.

Neglecting his business interests in England, Nigel insists on going with Mary to the Raymond's ranch in Canada.

Nigel tells Mary that he has decided to go to Mexico and divorce her, and that she is free to leave him at once.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT

XXXV—UNEXPECTED INTERFERENCE

Mary went straight to her own room when she reached the cabin. It was inconspicuously furnished for a room in a house in the mountains; eager to spend money. Wilma had brought lavishly and unwisely, and instead of creating the atmosphere to which Mary had been accustomed in the beautiful camps in the Adirondacks which she had often visited, Mrs. Raymond had furnished her rooms so that they looked as if they belonged in a Park avenue apartment. Mary had taken off her riding habit, bathed and dressed again when Nigel knocked on her door and entered almost before she could answer. "Well, I've changed my mind," he announced. "I've decided that after all I'll let you go at the end of the six months, since you're so determined to go. I must say that I think you're rather a poor sport, Mary, and of course you understand that, though I'm willing to divorce you, I won't give you any alimony."

Mary tried her best to hold her temper; her face flushed hotly, and she clenched her hands so hard that the finger nails cut her palms. But she said nothing. "I'll go to Mexico and divorce you," Nigel went on. "It's really quicker to do it there than in Paris. And I've always meant to go to Mexico some time. The Raymonds will go with me; they're good friends, always ready to stand by a man in trouble! So you may leave whenever you want to."

He spoke as if he might have been dismissing a servant. But Mary was too completely overjoyed to care how he spoke to her. The moment he left the room she hurried to a telephone, and dialed to the telephone operator at the distant railway station a message to Bruce, telling him that matters had been satisfactorily arranged with Nigel and that she was leaving the next day for Seattle.

She was finishing her packing the next morning when Wilma came in. "I hear that you're going away," she began abruptly. "Nigel tells me that you and he have come to the parting of the ways."

"Yes, I'm starting for Seattle tonight," answered Mary. "Well, you can't go," exclaimed Wilma flatly. "You don't know what you're doing, or why Nigel is letting you go. If you leave him you'll regret it all your life."

"But Nigel doesn't mind my going," Mary told her in surprise. "He told me so yesterday, and again this morning when we talked things over. He never really has cared for me." "You don't realize how much he cares," insisted Wilma. As she walked over to one of the windows and sat down there Mary realized that her face was very pale, and marked with signs of recent tears.

"He thinks everything in the world of you, but doesn't want to hold you against your will," Wilma went on. "He wants you to be happy. See what he's done for you, how much money he's spent on you." "He has bought me beautiful clothes, I grant you that. But he bought them not because I wanted them, but because he did. He wanted to have his wife dress so well that people would stare at her and talk about her. I was just one more piece of property that he owned, that was all."

Wilma shrugged her shoulders, lighted a cigarette and stared out of the window. Mary went on with her packing, carefully tucking away the things she had not cared to entrust to her maid. She had discovered that the woman was a great gossip and had been talking about her to the other servants, an unforgivable crime in Mary's eyes.

"Well, of course you must do as you think best, but you're making a mistake," Wilma began again after a moment. "I wonder—I don't know whether to tell you this or not; you and I haven't been friends, ever, and I hate to confide in you. You wouldn't understand me, I'm afraid; you're so desperately righteous yourself."

She paused an instant, then went on slowly.

"You can't go away and let Nigel get a divorce, because if you do, I'll have to marry him. And I don't want to. I'm in love with my husband."

"But why—you can't leave him—"

"Oh yes I can; he thinks I married him just to spite Nigel, one time years ago when Nigel and I had quarreled. I adore him, but he doesn't realize that he's going to clear out now, go off to Africa or India or somewhere, and leave me to divorce him and marry Nigel."

"But can't you tell him the truth?" "I've tried to and he doesn't believe me. He won't let me tell him. He says he knows I don't care for him and never have."

"But I thought he wanted to stay here and work the ranch."

"Well, he—he's changed his mind. If you leave now, you'll be making

"You can't leave Nigel," Wilma exclaimed.

It very hard for me."

"I'm sorry," Mary answered slowly. "But it seems to me that you've got into rather a messy tangle for which I'm not in any way responsible, after all."

"After all, you made a marriage of convenience yourself, and then cheated, didn't you? This 'wife in name only' play of yours makes me tired! You've taken everything Nigel had to offer, and then refused to be even a decent companion to him."

"He refused to let me be one," exclaimed Mary angrily. "I told him I'd been wrong and offered to begin all over again, and he wouldn't let me. I suppose—why, he must have done that because he was in love with you."

"Yes, he was," answered Wilma, sobbing into her handkerchief, which she had just seized with Mary's most delicate perfume.

HELEN WILLS RECAPTURES TITLE

CHAMPION TAKES EASY VICTORY FROM MALLORY

Helen Wills Also Is Member of Championship Doubles Winners

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Miss Helen Wills carried two more tennis trophies out of the West Side Tennis club stadium this afternoon at the conclusion of the 1924 women's national championships.

After she had easily defeated Mrs. Molla Mallory in the singles, 6-1, 6-3, Miss Wills came back with Mrs. George W. Wightman of Boston and won the national doubles title from Miss Eleanor Goss of New York and Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup of Wilmington, Del., 6-4, 6-3.

Never extended, Helen Wills, the California school girl, scored an easy straight set victory over Mrs. Molla Mallory this afternoon in defense of her title as national singles tennis champion.

"Little Poker Face" won 6-1, 6-3. Mrs. Mallory, six times champion, was an easy victim for the champion.

The match got under way with Miss Wills serving. She took the first point on Mallory's net and then quickly ran out a love victory.

Helen promptly broke through in the second, 4-2 on Molla's errors, but lost her service 4-1 in the third. Molla lost the fourth, 4-2. Miss Wills led three games to one.

Miss Wills won the fifth with the loss of one point. She broke Molla's service for the third time, 4-1, and needed one game for the set.

The final game went to deuce five times with both playing brilliantly. Helen finally won, 9-7, taking the set 6-1.

Water Supply Is Meet Topic

Sources of water supply for the East Bay district, one of the most absorbing of present topics in Contra Costa and Alameda counties, were told to the Bay District Conference of Commercial Secretaries at the monthly meeting of the organization yesterday in Walnut Creek. Arthur Davis, engineer in charge of the water supply project of the East Bay Utility district, was the speaker.

A luncheon, prepared entirely from Contra Costa grown products, was served the commercial secretaries at the Rogers hotel.

The morning session of the day meeting was devoted largely to organization business. "Rural Development and County Farm Bureau Activities" and the relationship which should exist with chambers of commerce was discussed by J. W. Nelson, secretary of the California Farm Bureau federation. The agricultural extension service of the University of California was discussed by B. F. Cochran, director of the university. Davis' address was made at the afternoon session.

A forum meeting for discussion of publicity work was also held in the afternoon with Jack Kirkpatrick of Ukiah as the director. An automobile trip through the agricultural districts about Walnut Creek was provided as the closing feature of the day.

Sixteen Firemen Take Examination

Sixteen members of the Richmond fire department took the examination for promotion in the department. The examination, which was prepared and given by Fire Chief W. P. Cooper, was given at the Roosevelt Junior high school yesterday morning. To insure accurate grading of the papers each paper was numbered and the number filed with the competitor's name in a sealed envelope which will not be opened until the papers are entirely corrected.

One of three men making the highest grades will be recommended for assistant fire chief by Cooper, and three senior and two junior captaincies are to be filled. The results of the tests will be announced some time this week, and the council will probably consider the fire chief's recommendations at the August 25 meeting.

Sample Ballots Prepared for Recall Election

Sample ballots are being prepared by City Clerk C. A. Paris for the recall election to be held in Richmond August 5. The election is to be held for the purpose of voting on the recall from the city council of Members J. J. Garrard, Mrs. Marie Ogden, J. M. Hartnett and W. W. Scott. The total registered vote for the election, as announced by Paris, is 6,923.

U. S. and British Stars at Finish of Relay

The American team, made up of Charley Paddock, University of Southern California; Loren Murchison, Newark A. C.; Jackson V. Scholz, New York A. C., and Leconey covered the distance in 37.45 seconds, a new world's record, and 1.1 seconds better than they did in the Olympic games. On the British team were A. E. Porritt, New Zealand; W. P. Nichol, Highgate; E. W. Carr, New South Wales, and Abrahams. Leconey and Abrahams ran "anchor."

SCHEDULE MADE FOR HORSE SHOW AT STATE FAIR

An Extensive List of Prizes and Events Made for State Fair Show

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 16.—The state fair horse shows, that claim the attention of all who are interested in fine bred horses, will be put on every night from August 30 to September 7 here.

California, in years past, justly earned the reputation as breeder of fine horses and this series of horse shows will be greeted with enthusiasm as of yore since, judging by the character and number of entries, the state fair will maintain its mark as among the highest in horse show standards, both from point of class and prizes offered.

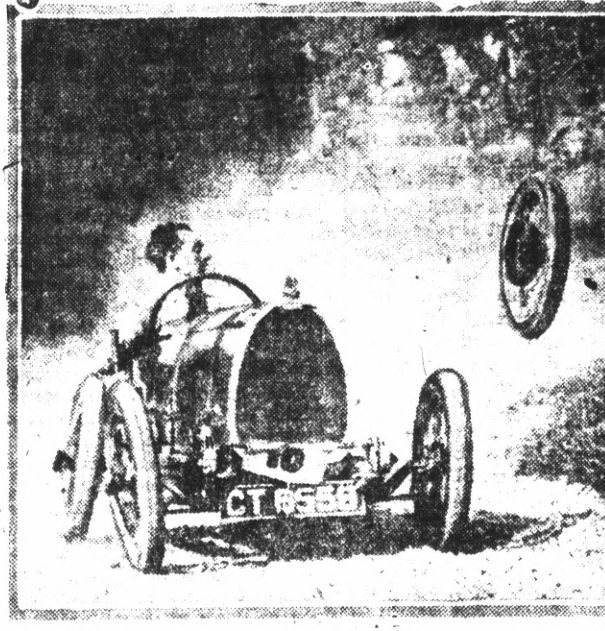

A large number of entries over any previous state fair horse show, has been listed for the fair period, August 30 to September 7, and more stables are now being provided to accommodate the increase. The horse show this year will constitute a distinctive major feature of the seventeenth annual state fair, and the high steppers, gaited animals and show steeds that compete for the ribbons and prize money will delight the hearts of all true lovers of blooded stock.

Many Horses Due. From recent reports, these events will be enthusiastically welcomed by the smart set and horse lovers from all over California, as well as many from outside the state. Show horses for 1924 are coming not only from California, but also from breeders in many other states.

Among the entries will be noted some of the finest performers, both state and interstate, and horse fanciers will not fail to tax the horse show pavilion to its capacity.

The entries for 1924 include the names of many new horses, in addition to veterans of horse shows of the past. From seven to ten big events are scheduled for each night of the show with an extra large list for the closing when the state fair championships will be decided.

Expert Driver Prevents Car Accident

Raymond Mays, a member of the South Wales Automobile club, was driving his car at 60 miles an hour when his rear axle snapped and he lost a wheel. Due to his expert driving, the automobile was kept from turning over and Mays was uninjured. Note the wheel in the air after leaving the broken axle.

Good Prize List. List of $75, $50 and $25 for each event, offered by the state fair, three additional $500 prizes and three $1000 prizes have been hung up by Sacramento concerns for the best showing in selected classes.

The opening night will be featured by a special purse of $500 offered by the new Hotel Senator corporation of Sacramento, owners of the new $2,000,000 hotel here. This prize will be divided into seven parts for entrants in the single heavy horse class.

A $1,000 purse to be known as the Bankers' State has been offered by the Sacramento Clearing House association for saddle horses.

The Sacramento County Stake of $1,000 offered by the supervisors of Sacramento county will be for saddle horses, five gaited, open. The third $1,000 stake, being offered by the Sacramento firm of Weststock, Labin & Co., for hunters and jumpers. All will feature the closing night show.

In addition to the regular prize The Hotel Sacramento is sponsor of heavy harness horses. The Sacramento Chamber of Commerce Stake of $500 will be for single harness ponies and is slated for the Friday night performance, September 5.

Rudolph Morani, first baseman for the Barred House team in the Standard Oil Twilight league, made a batting average of .478 during the past season, according to results tabulated yesterday. Morani headed the list of batters in the league. He played in 15 games, was at bat 44 times and made 21 hits. He made three home runs, one three-bagger, five two-bags and twelve singles.

OAKLAND NOW IN THIRD PLACE IN COAST LEAGUE

Four Out of Five in Series With Portland Places Oaks in Third Notch

OAKLAND, Aug. 16.—The Oaks made it four out of five from the Beavers today by winning, 3 to 1. The Oaks got all their runs in the sixth inning, when two hits, sandwiched in with two errors, broke off Lefty Leverenz' lead of one run. Boehler twirled for the Oaks and except for one inning held the Beavers safe. The batteries—Oakland, Boehler and Baker; Portland, Leverenz and Cochran.

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 16.—The Seals hopped on Sheriff Singleton today with a vengeance and took the first game of the series with a score of 11 to 3. Geary was invincible and held the Bees at all stances while his mates clubbed the ball seemingly at will. Warner started with a home run, triple and double, while Mulligan also put the ball over the fence. The batteries—San Francisco, Geary and Yelle; Salt Lake, Singleton, Thomas and Peters.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 16.—Sacramento drifted in ten runs today while the Angels were forced to be content with one lonely one. Score 10 to 1. Sacramento had two runs when Los Angeles scored its single tally and Sac kept right on piling them up. The batteries—Los Angeles, Hughes and Spencer; Sacramento, Canfield and Kohle.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—Seattle won from Vernon, 6 to 2, today, although both teams scored an equal number of hits, with 10 for each. The batteries—Vernon, Penner and D. Murphy; Seattle, Bagby and Tobin.

Germany Worried Over Getting Loan

(By Universal Service)

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—Do we get the loan? That is now the principal worry of Germany. The stay of the French troops in the Ruhr for another year not only is a big blow to the German pride, smashing her plans to emerge from beyond the pale of international law, but has been here as a great handicap at economic recovery which seriously imperils her chances for a loan at terms which Germany can stand.

The final stand of bankers on that question is awaited with considerable anxiety.

Darrows Unable to Shake Testimony

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Clarence Darrow smiled like a cornered cat mount when cross-examining Dr. H. Singer in Judge Caverly's courtroom today.

Darrow was trying to break down the state alienist's testimony that Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb were sane when they kidnapped and killed Robert Franks.

When the court recessed at noon until Monday, Dr. Singer was still on the stand and Darrow had not shaken his testimony.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 16.—Denmark has no mountains. Its prosperous islands are flat, and Jutland, the mainland, is mostly rolling heath. Figuratively, Denmark curves its back to the west and turns its face to the rising sun, first seen each day through the eyes of Copenhagen in the east. The more charming landscapes have all this eastward tendency, and the shining bords run down to Cattegat. Jutland is the holiday country for lovers of nature among the Danes, and in the center of Jutland rises Himmelberg (Mount Heaven). Although less than 500 feet high the hill has an imposing effect from its setting amid the pretty lakes and woods of Ayn, where Silkeborg is the presiding health resort and cure center. From all the lakes Himmelberg is constantly in view, and when you have made the gentle climb you are not only rewarded with one of the loveliest views in Denmark, but you have ascended to a place of pilgrimage, a hill fragrant with memories of the pioneers of Danish peasant culture.

A Hill of Inspiration

It was to Himmelberg that Blicher, the poet of the north whose songs are symbolized by a skylark cut in stone upon his monument at the summit, called the people to a national meeting in 1839, when the higher ideals of life and education and the songs of green woods and winsome land of the clergyman-historian Grundtvig, were placed before the people's high schools, of which Grundtvig was the prophetic father and Christen Kold, the practical pioneer, have influenced every phase of Denmark's national life during the last 75 years will realize some of the enthusiasm with which students' reunions and conventions are held on Himmelberg.

Are Schools for Adults.

The people's high schools are for adults who voluntarily attend for five months at their own expense, and are influenced by the spoken word, the debates and atmosphere, and the life of fellowship. They leave with a wider outlook to take up everyday work, which has a deeper meaning.

These high schools are outside the general scheme of education, of which they form an adjunct rather than an integral part. Their aim is to inspire more than to instruct. Idealism based on the lessons of history is kindled by the teachers. Since the parties of the left attained power the high schools have received government grants largely in recognition of the part they have played in toning up and enlightening the people. They have not to satisfy any educational test by examination.

It is insisted upon that they shall be residential. The state inspector makes occasional visits at long intervals to be satisfactorily assured of the general standing of the school. Ownership is often private, and there is no uniformity, individual enterprise being encouraged, with no hampering inquisition into finances. The town or county often gives assistance as well as the government, without seeking representation on the management.

Co-operation Not Taught.

Although co-operation has been a great factor in the industrial progress of the Danish agriculturist, co-operation is not taught in the people's high schools. Co-operation was developing before the schools asserted their influence, because the peasants saw that their butter could not compete with that from the bigger manor farms possessing the advantage of up-to-date plants. When the peasants bulked their supplies and joined in the use of the best equipment they not only won first prizes at the competitive shows, but commanded higher prices in the open market. But the high schools have helped enormously in the making of modern Denmark, and it is customary for the men to follow a winter course at the high school with a course the next year at an agricultural technical school.

Men are in residence from November to April, and women from May to August. The curriculum based on eight hours' work a day generally includes Danish, Danish history, Danish history of literature, world's history, arithmetic, geography, physics, drawing, land measurement, writing, bookkeeping, social problems, gymnastics, elocution and singing and handwork.

Lectures and Discussion.

The system is maintained chiefly by lectures and discussion, note taking is not encouraged, but there is a tendency, more than in former days, to encourage reading after interest has been awakened.

Askov is distinguished from the other high schools in that the students take an extended course of three winter sessions, and devote more time to history and natural science; but in the main the 60 people's high schools in Denmark are conducted on the one term system.

There are four small-holders' schools, where an introduction to technical agriculture is combined with the usual subjects. Their students are given free traveling facilities to make excursions to other parts of the country and gain an insight into districts with which they are not familiar, such as the reclaimed heath of Jutland, where new farms are developed. Young Denmark's imagination is thus fired with the possibilities of its native land.

Short Courses.

Short holiday courses are also arranged. Sometimes a family will spend a week at a school with a demonstration farm and special short terms weekly or monthly are organized for women in gardening and housewifery in the autumn. Excursions and discussions are a feature of the system. At Esbjerg there is a workers' high school which devotes special attention to craft workers, particularly builders. There is also an international school at Elsinore in an experimental state.

The students are mostly the sons and daughters of farmers, ministers and teachers, but there are also craft workers from the towns, and those who have interrupted their first year at the university for a high school course. Many of the schools are beautifully situated overlooking the fjords, such as that associated with the name of Bredsdorff, two miles from Roskilde cathedral, which I visited. Cynics at Copenhagen have criticised the people's high schools as places where little but gymnastics and folk songs are taught, but this genuine people's movement has stood the test of time and experience. It has deeply influenced the progressive spirit and advancement of Denmark.

Rheumatic Paralytic for Now a Well Woman

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 23, 1923

For years I suffered so from rheumatic paralysis that I was unable to leave my bed. My hands and face were swollen and I had agonizing pains all over. My bladder and kidneys were in a terrible condition and I had pleurisy pain. A friend having urged me to try FONG WAN HERB, my husband asked their herbalist to call on me. We bought and cooked some of the herbs at home, and my bladder and kidneys were relieved almost immediately. I took the herbs for about four months, and words cannot express my gratitude for my complete recovery. I am also happy to say that although I have taken no herbs at all during the past six months, I still remain well. I gladly give this testimonial to the FONG WAN HERB CO. I know FONG WAN to be a straightforward business man who makes no vain boasts. I also know that he has relieved terrible cases of suffering. I have recommended numbers of persons to buy his herbs, and they have all been satisfied. I live right here in the heart of Oakland. Anyone who really wishes to take the FONG WAN HERBS and would like to know more about how wonderfully the herbs have helped me, can obtain my address at the FONG WAN office.

At Open Car Cost
ESSEX COACH

Built by Hudson

Genuine Balloon Tires
Standard Equipment

The outstanding buying choice this year is "Closed Car Comforts at Open Car Cost." The Coach alone provides them. It is exclusive to Hudson and Essex. Everyone knows it gives highest closed car value. And because no other type of car shares its position it is the largest selling 6-cylinder closed car in the world.

Genuine Balloon Tires Enhance World's Greatest Value

Naturally when balloon tires had established their superiority Hudson and Essex would adopt them. They are now standard equipment. They add an even greater measure of riding ease, steadiness and good looks to the notable values of the Coach.

In workmanship, material and design both Hudson and Essex are of one quality—built in the same factories, under the same patents. Your choice between them will rest solely on the price you want to pay.

You see the Coach everywhere in increasing numbers. Everyone wants closed car comforts. They will no longer accept half-utility when all-year usefulness and comforts cost no more in the Coach.

Consider how the growing trend to closed cars affects resale values. The diminishing demand for open cars means far faster depreciation in that type. As the wanted type, the Coach maintains exceptionally high resale value.

"Nobody" With Jewel Carmen at Richmond Today

From a happy bride to a babbling child.

That is the transition of the heroine in "Nobody," which will be shown at the Richmond theatre today.

Jewel Carmen is the star of the picture, which was produced by Roland West for Associated First National Pictures, Inc.

One of the most gripping scenes shows Miss Carmen as "Little Mrs. Smith," in bed, cutting dolls and animals out of paper; babbling and behaving generally like a child. She is suffering from aphasia—complete loss of memory—and does not recognize her husband or realize that she is in her own home.

A wild party on a yacht in Florida waters, with cocktails and wines flowing freely, was responsible for her condition. While her husband was many miles away she fell into the clutches of a wealthy New Yorker, but her husband does not learn the truth about matters until—

It would be unwise to tell of the manner in which Tom Smith learns the cause of his wife's mental trouble; or of what follows. It is sufficient to say that it is one of the most mystifying screen productions ever staged, with surprising twists of plot and wholly unexpected climaxes.

The cast supporting Miss Carmen is one of the most competent ever gathered together for a single picture; and the entire production has been lavishly staged.

Excellent Acts Of Vaudeville At California

A pleasurable program of bright lights, novelties, jazz, beautiful costumes and laughter, with Flo Eckhart and Company, the internationally famous dancers holding the headline honors of an unequalled bill of varieties comes to the California theatre today, in conjunction with the screen feature, "Discontented Husbands," starring James Kirkwood.

Flo Eckhart and Company offer new and novel dance creations with beautifully costumed girls. These dainty dancers come with an enviable international reputation and should prove a real treat to the lovers of new and original dance ideas.

Montambo & Nap are a pair of irresistible comedians presenting the "Silent Funster," a sensational acrobatic offering with funny falls, remarkable bumps and general knock-out tumbling and acrobatic maneuvers, full of good comedy and put over for laughing purposes only.

Dana and Loehr in "The Melody Man," whose engaging personality, coupled with their talent and ability present a breezy entertainment replete with good singing and dancing numbers and a line of bright and snappy talk that is sure to delight and satisfy.

Gordon Bros. Trio, "Harmonists Supreme," in a mirthful musical melange of popular songs and harmony with a vein of wholesome comedy.

Herman's Cats and Dogs will be a great treat for the kiddies as well as the grown-ups, as theirs is a distinct animal novelty that never fails to please.

The screen feature, "Discontented Husbands," is the strongest drama of marital relations that has come to the screen for a long time. It's dramatic dynamite, with one hundred horsepower surprise kick. James Kirkwood has the featured role and is supported by a brilliant cast.

Other features on the same program include "Bargain Day," a comedy novelty, and "Pathe News." Carl Richards' California orchestra. Larry F. Canelo at the huge organ.

Mining Deal Turns Out Profitable

George Zanes, proprietor of the Eureka restaurant on Macdonald avenue between Sixth and Seventh streets, and eight or ten other Richmond men have just cleaned up on a mining deal. They bought large blocks of stock in an Arizona mine a few years ago, paying 10 cents a share for it. The mine recently struck it rich, and a New York syndicate is taking it over. They are paying $1 a share for it, and the Richmond stockholders are accepting it.

Zanes has 12,000 shares in the mine.

Easley Meets With Support From All Parts of County

The result of the week's work by Robert P. Easley of Antioch, candidate for assemblyman on the republican ticket, according to reports received in this city last night, has been one of assurance at every turn and the indications are that he will go over the top August 26 by a tremendous majority.

The past six days have been spent by Easley attending meetings in the evenings in the eastern and central portions of the county; the day time has been devoted to meeting the voters of the district.

Easley is a successful business man in every sense of the word, and the general feeling of the people is that their interests at the legislature could not be left in more capable hands than those of Easley.

To meet Easley and talk with him is to be for him. He is one of those individuals termed a "go-getter," and when he starts out to do something the history of the man is that he always succeeds.

English Plan Cultivation of Sugar Beets

(By Universal Service)

LONDON, Aug. 16.—One and a half million tons of sugar are consumed annually in the United Kingdom. Seventy-seven per cent of this comes from sources outside the empire.

The first of a chain of factories by which it is hoped to manufacture sugar from home-grown beets is now nearing completion at Colwick, a few miles from Nottingham. It will be ready by the time this season's crop of beets is harvested.

The factory is being built by Lord Weir, in conjunction with Lord Invercain, at a cost of $1,500,000. It will have an annual capacity of 6000 tons, with room for development up to 10,000 tons.

"There is no reason," said Lord Weir, "why we should not ourselves produce a considerable quantity of the sugar consumed in this country. We shall give farmers all the help and advice they require to cultivate beets, and as soon as we see that more and more beets are grown, we shall increase the number and size of our plants."

"At present there are two beet sugar factories in England. They are controlled by a Dutch group, one being on lease from the government." The factories referred to by Lord Weir are situated at Cantley, in Norfolk, and at Iltham, near Newark. Lord Invercain is chairman of Jamaica Sugar Estates, Ltd., a company floated two weeks ago.

The king has contracted to grow at Sandringham for three years a quan-

HERB SPECIALISTS

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

In reciprocation of the wonderful cure effected through the medium of Dr. Wong Him's herbs and his thorough knowledge of every human ailment, I desire to state briefly the terrible sufferings experienced by myself for other thirty years, thus guiding anyone who may desire relief from attacks of any nature:

I had been afflicted with cancer and Bright's Disease, also catarrh of the head for a period of over thirty years. Learning of the extraordinary cures resulting from the herb treatments of Dr. Wong Him, I decided to seek relief if possible through this course, being to some extent skeptical, due to failures of other eminent specialists to effect any amount of relief.

A complete treatment of the above herbs have resulted in relieving me entirely of these affliction and my head has been cleared of all traces of catarrh. Pains in back and headaches have ceased and am again able to enjoy perfect health.

The above has been absolutely unsolicited and my only home is that same may prove of great benefit to all sufferers who may read it. MRS. E. HUBER, 2407 38th Ave. MR. P. HUBER, 2407 38th Ave. Oakland, Calif., April 9, 1924. 2047 Webster St. Lake 429.

Tuberculosis Vaccine Said To Be Successful

By BASIL WOON, Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Aug. 16.—A full report on the now famous anti-tubercular discovery of Prof. Calmette of the Pasteur Institute, called "bacillus B. G. G.," has been published in the official Journal of the Academy of Medicine.

First experiments were made on calves in stables of farms in the departments of Seine-Inferieure and Seine-et-Oise, during 1921. Every new-born calf in these departments was inoculated with the vaccine in that year, and re-vaccinated every year subsequently.

To date, none of the cattle thus vaccinated show any signs of tuberculosis, whereas the previous tubercular percentage was 23 1-3.

Next, monkeys were experimented on. At Kindia, in Guinea, in December, 1923, Dr. Wilbert placed three monkeys of the same species in a cage together. One was vaccinated with B. G. G. by the mouth. One was infected with human tubercular microbes. The third was allowed to remain as he was.

On April 17 the third monkey died of tuberculosis, contaminated by the second monkey. On May 2 the second monkey died. The first monkey, inoculated with the vaccine, is still alive and healthy with no signs of tuberculosis.

In June, 1922, at the Charite hospital, Drs. Devraigne and Levy-Solal obtained the authorization of parents to inoculate 217 new-born babies.

Three different times, during the third, fifth, seventh, or fifth, seventh and ninth days after birth, each baby was inoculated with two milligrammes of B. G. G. half an hour before feeding. They were given it with a spoon.

No accidents were reported. Thirty-eight of the babies thus inoculated

Pythian Sisters Hold Business Meet

The Pythian Sisters met for a business session last night in Pythian Castle. Most Excellent Chief Audrey Delaney presided. Brother Scott of Navarro, Mendocino county, was a visitor last night.

Next Saturday night some important business will be transacted at the meeting and all members are urged to be sure and be present.

Plans for a visit of the grand chief on September 6 are being arranged. A sewing bee will be held Thursday at the home of Sister Nellie Hudson. The sisters are to go on about 11:00 o'clock, and each will bring a covered dish, and prepare to spend the day.

Drinks Coffee for First Time In Forty-Five Years

After forty-five years of abstinence from coffee, William J. Osborne, 934 Maine avenue, let go his vows taken nearly a half century before and now he drinks little else.

Friends of Osborne noticed his dereliction, but he wouldn't explain. They argued the matter for a while, and finally reached an almost unanimous opinion that Osborne had quit coffee long ago on an election bet.

A committee approached Osborne for confirmation of the theory.

Osborne denied it. "I haven't smoked a cigarette for a longer time than that," he said, "and that's no election bet either, but if I feel like it, I will."

were lost to sight afterward. Of the 179 remaining, in the eighteen months following the inoculation, there were nine deaths — two from bronchial pneumonia, one from gastrointestinal trouble, and six others from various causes. All the others still live, and none show the slightest sign of tuberculosis, despite the fact that they were picked from families in which at least one person had been already contaminated or was actually sick or dead from tuberculosis.

The immense importance of these facts is shown by Prof. Calmette's computation that, hitherto, from 50 to 67 per cent of babies born of tubercular mothers died before they were 2 years old.

"We do not claim to have solved the problem of prevention of consumption," concludes Prof. Calmette, "but we have undoubtedly made a long stride in the right direction, and have proven the present vaccination to be efficacious as well as innocuous."

A bill will shortly be introduced in the French parliament to render compulsory the inoculation with B. G. G. of all infants born of parents one or both of whom are tubercular.

Richmond Scouts To Attend Fete

The biggest ceremonial ever held by California Scouts is planned at San Francisco Saturday night, August 23, according to an announcement made yesterday. More than 15,000 Scouts are expected to be present from Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys. The affair will be held at the Civic Auditorium in San Francisco.

A large number of Richmond members are to attend the affair. Ten bands will furnish music. Other pyramids to be represented include those of Fresno, San Mateo, San Jose, Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, San Rafael, Antioch and Santa Rosa.

Ships With U. S. Flyers Run Low On Fuel Supply

(By Universal Service) WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Unless the army round-the-world flyers speed up, the cordon of navy vessels guarding the route will be obliged to run to the nearest base and replenish the fuel supply, according to authoritative belief in navy circles here today.

For a week or ten days the oil situation among the cruisers and destroyers has been serious. Provisions also are low and ships have drawn so heavily on the limited supply at Reykjavik that natives are reported growing apprehensive.

Slapped by Sister Boy Takes Life

(By Universal Service) BERLIN, Aug. 16.—Because his 7-year-old sister slapped his face in a childish quarrel, Gerhard Kruger, 12, committed suicide by hanging himself before her eyes. The children had undertaken a potato peeling race which ended in a quarrel, during which the sister slapped him. The boy climbed on a table, put a string around his neck, tied it to a hook and jumped off. The little sister ran screaming to the street, but the boy was dead before neighbors arrived.
